EUCLIDIAN

EUCLID SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

711 E. 222ND ST.

EUCLID, OHIO

ALMA MATER

Hail to Thee, O Euclid High School,
To thy name all praise we sing.
Happy days of youthful pleasure;
Learning, living, life so dear,
Our hearts fill with gratitude
For all that is to be —
Alma Mater, Euclid High School,
All our praise we bring to thee.

Where the blue of Erie's waters
Casts the sun's bright golden rays,
There all Euclid's sons and daughters
Sing the joys of student days.
If after days be dark and drear
And storms of life draw nigh,
The memories of our friendships here
Will lift our hearts to Euclid High.

DEDICATION

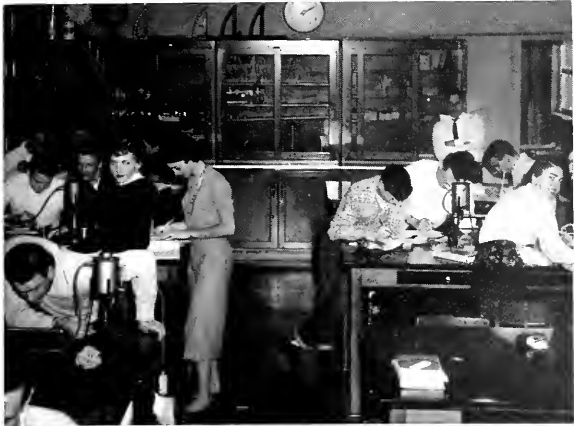

The achievements reflected in these pages are those of everyone who helped make this year a memorable one. To you, the Students and Faculty of Euclid Senior High School, is presented the 1956 Euclidian, dedicated to your HOPES AND DREAMS for the FUTURE.

To some people it might seem that the physics lab is a room filled with confusing instruments. Actually the many demonstrations and experiments carried on in class are entertaining to those interested in the science of the principles of heat, light, sound, electricity, and machines. The experiments clarify many facts that cannot be learned from texts alone.

Because the world is becoming increasingly smaller through transportation and communication, it is important for the American student to learn the languages of his neighbors in other countries. This opportunity is provided in Euclid High's many language classes. Buenos dias is the greeting one receives when entering this Spanish class and as each school day passes, the student increases his knowledge of the grammar and pronunciation of the language.

Many girls' ability to make their own clothes saves them money and acquaints them with designs, textiles, and colors. Modeling the clothes they make for mothers and friends helps develop their poise. The home arts department also teaches the planning, preparing, and serving of meals in its modern kitchen.

Biology is not a subject for the squeamish, but for those who want to learn about the science of living things, the dissection of the organisms of animals is helpful in the study of other sciences. Biology study includes the origin, structure, development, functions, reproduction, and distribution of plants and animals. It is a requirement for the beginner in the field of science.

The study of civilization from its beginning until present day is carried on in Euclid's history classes to aid in comprehending world problems. Students learn the connection between wars that were fought, laws that were passed, and their present life. A knowledge of world history, United States History, and government will aid the students of today in becoming the good citizens of tomorrow.

Check the tires, adjust the seat and mirrors, depress the clutch — these are the first four steps the student learns in driving. At first it takes some effort to remember these steps, but after being behind the wheel several times these steps and driving rules become completely familiar. When the student passes his test, he receives his license from a member of the Euclid Police Department, and one more good driver is on the road.

In Professor Blackburn's senior English class the emphasis is placed upon composition and English literature. No student will ever forget Macbeth complete with sword play, reading the Atlantic Monthly, and Mr. B's funny glasses.

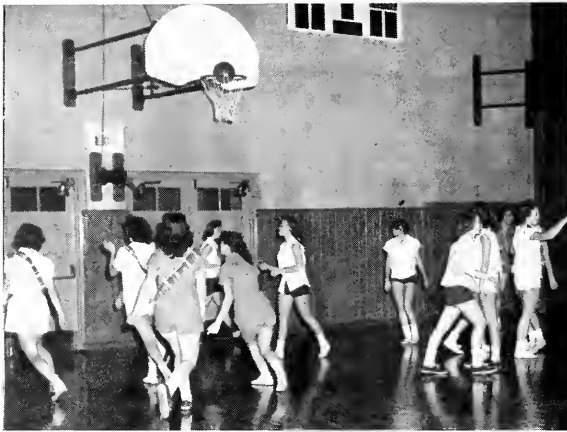

Brakes, clutch, electrical system, motor — these are all familiar words in the automotive classes which are designed to intelligently select, use, and repair automobiles. Stressed equally with the fundamentals of automotive construction and maintenance are the appreciation and care of tools, good working habits, and the responsibilities of car ownership.

The seniors with a true interest in advanced mathematics can be found in the two solid geometry and trigonometry classes. Many of the third dimensional pictures seem difficult to understand, but with the aid of models and a large supply of pointers the laws of space are soon learned. Through trig the students learn that all logs don't come from trees, since the use of logs is helpful in solving for a side of a triangle.

The motto, "All work and no play" has surely been disproved in the girls' gym classes. Here the girls are learning the rules of basketball as they compete against each other on teams formed in the individual classes. An important aspect of education, the gym class gives the student a chance to release some of the physical energy that has been building up while sitting in other classes. Although the students learn in gym there is no end to the fun to be had.

Six weeks of health seems like torture to the boys after basketball, football, baseball, tumbling, and swimming. Physical education does more than build bodies. It teaches sportsmanship and provides one period a day for some healthy recreation.

Six hundred students can be accommodated in the library, therefore, tests are often given there. It's more common use is for research work on term papers and book reports during study halls and before and after school. Red leather easy chairs were added to a corner of the library this year to be used by the students interested in recreational reading.

In Euclid's typing classes the future secretaries are trained to enter into the competitive business world. Most of the beginning typing students have never typed more than their names, but after starting with the alphabet and working up to writing business letters they increase their technique and speed enough to enter advanced classes.

Printing is one of the many courses offered by the industrial arts department. Beginning students learn the fundamentals of type setting, after which they learn to operate platen presses to print tickets, programs, and office forms. The advanced students lock up and print the school paper on a flat bed cylinder press as well as learning the fundamentals of lithography.

In the office practice room only the advanced students in the commercial field are allowed to work. Each secretary is assigned to a certain teacher and they ditto tests, check papers, record grades, and make out the grade cards. They also learn to operate the Burroughs adding machine, the book-keeping machine, the ediphone, and the electric typewriter.

The "Hillbilly Express" arrived from Richmond Heights every morning about eight o'clock bringing students to begin another day at Euclid High.

All was supposed to be quiet in the homerooms as the P.A. system reminded students and teachers of after-school meetings, sports events, and social activities.

Some waistlines were remembered and others forgotten as the girls tried to eat, chatter, and still make it to the noon movies on time.

The boys as usual were more conservative during lunch time using milk bottles for games of chicken and causing minor disturbances.

There must have been a contest to see how many people could stuff their coats, books, lunches, gym clothes, batons, and tennis rackets into one locker, even though with 1800 of them there were plenty for everyone.

A new safety feature was added to the school parking lot in the form of a policeman to check on how closely driving rules were being followed and to see if each car had a parking sticker on the windshield.

Even though our rec room couldn't be considered elaborate it was often the scene of many grueling ping-pong games and jitterbug contests.

Our weekly assemblies were varied in order to gain the approval of both the students and the faculty. We missed Sergeant Smith's second appearance, but managed to enjoy an entertaining safety show sponsored by a national trucking association.

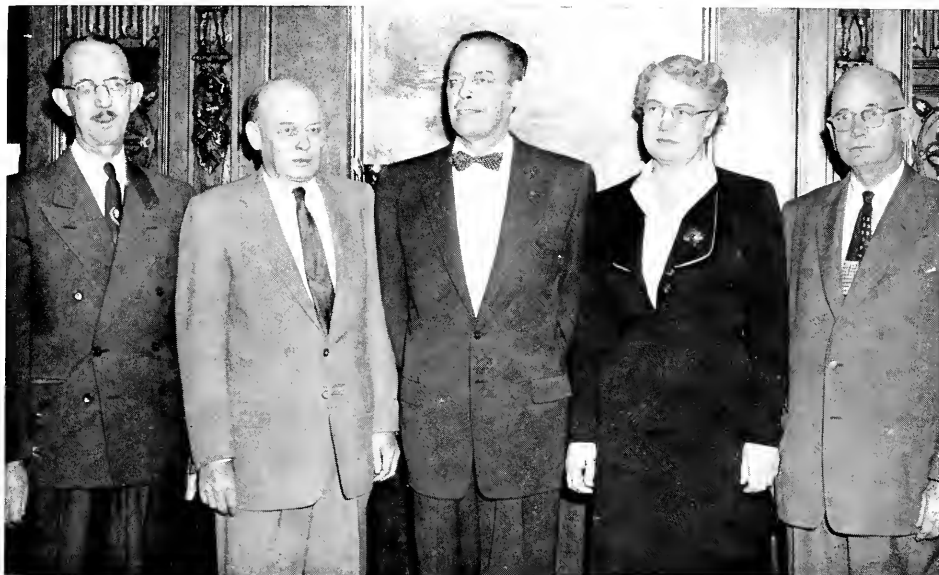

Another typical Euclid High day was ended at 3:20 as the students boarded the busses taking with them class-room knowledge, the latest jokes, and dreams of Saturday night's date.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

to right: Loyal Luikart, C. E. Bowman, Russell Glass, Mrs. Grace Watkins, John Davis

This yearbook is dedicated to your hopes for the future. As such, it represents not only the hopes, wishes and ambitions of the student body but of your parents, your city, and your country. The American public school is a monument to the belief of a people that freedom, justice, and self-government in America can be preserved through free public education where all children have an opportunity to develop their capacities to the greatest possible extent. It is the hope of your teachers and of your parents that this ideal is deeply imbedded in your thinking. Your high school has given you an opportunity which exists no place else in the world — an opportunity to chart your own future and to work in the direction of its achievement.

Sincerely yours,
W. G. FORDYCE, Supt. of Schools

All of us will enjoy turning the pages of this yearbook, reading its memorable phrases, and enjoying, through pictures, many experiences of the past school year.

The class of 1956 will especially cherish this book because it is the record of school life here at Euclid High School during their senior year. The thrill that goes with achievement is theirs, Greater things lie ahead but their high school days will always be among their fondest memories.

Congratulations to the staff and sponsors for a job well done. Best wishes to the class of 1956.

Sincerely,
Clifford G. Owens, Principal

This is your annual and you should receive a great deal of pleasure from reviewing the events which are recorded here so well. The memories should include the friends you have made and the opportunities you have had while at Euclid Senior High.

Meryl R. Baumer,

Lasting friendships and happy memories of school days are important to all of us, and they become more valuable with the passing years.

This yearbook will help you to remember many happy events and carefree days you have experienced during your stay at Euclid High School.

Congratulations and best wishes to all of you. Your contributions and experiences while here will help all the underclass members as they take your places.

These are the teachers of E.H.S., some just out of college and others who have been here since Euclid High opened in 1950. Besides filling their days with lesson preparation, class instruction, and grading papers, they find time to sponsor activities around school, plan homeroom guidance, coach athletic teams, and most important of all to be friends with the student body. Here's hoping that you, the faculty members, enjoyed the school year of "56" as much as the students have. You have the thanks of the students for wearing "Beat Tech" tags, sponsoring Student Council candidates, directing the class assemblies, giving up your free time to chaperone all the social affairs, and for backing the "Fat Panthers" as well as the Euclid Panthers.

The class of "56" says good-by, but not for long. You can expect to see us back before too long with a long list of achievements because we have great hopes and dreams for the future, which you have helped make possible.

The Sophomore class had to choose its officers and class cabinet from old and new classmates. The representatives on the cabinet were elected by their homerooms and through them the class started a successful three year stay at Euclid Senior High. This class will always remember the Sophomore party, the Seniors of "56" who weren't such awful ogres, their first Friendship Hi-Y formal, the pep rally before Euclid played East Tech in basketball, and the Sophomore assembly. This class will be remembered as all Sophomores are always remembered.

The Junior Class had a cabinet consisting of representatives which met after school to plan the affairs of the class. The outstanding event of the year was the Junior Prom, when the cafeteria blossomed into a Southern plantation scene under the direction of the decorations committee, with the evening made lovelier by the music of Harry Hershey's orchestra. This class will remember the Junior Party, the Junior assembly, and buying class rings.

This class will be remembered for originating the Junior Guidance Council to improve and promote homeroom guidance on Thursdays.

By the time the Juniors see this book they will be Seniors. Here's hoping that they will have a successful year as upperclassmen and hold on to the many honors which belong to Euclid High — especially that wonderful new feeling of school spirit!

One of the highest honors a high school can bestow upon an outstanding student is membership in the National Honor Society. Members are chosen from those in the upper third of the Junior and Senior classes. Scholarship is emphasized since all students eligible must have an average of eighty-five or better. These students are rated by the faculty and N.H.S. members according to character, leadership, and service.

To be eligible to belong to Quill and Scroll a person must have a high scholastic average, must have made a valuable contribution to one of the high school publications, and have been recommended by an advisor. Acceptance into Quill and Scroll means that a person has literally "made it" as far as the field of high school journalism is concerned. The honorary pin is a quill with a scroll beneath it. Printed on it are the words Quill and Scroll as well as the initials IHSJSJ meaning International Honor Society for High School Journalists.

One of the most important organizations at Euclid High was the Student Council. At the beginning of the semester each homeroom elected one representative to take their problems to the weekly Student Council meeting. The problems were brought to the attention of the council, discussed, solved, and the representative returned to his homeroom with the report of the last meeting. Hallguards, concessions, assembly programs, room secretaries, guides, the recreation room, and the student magazine drive were completely managed by the executive board comprised jointly of the candidates who ran for office in the last election, and the present officers. The Student Council works for the betterment of the school by appropriating money for other worthy school organizations.

Unknown to many, Euclid's National Forensic League has won more medals, trophies, and honors than the combined efforts of all our athletic teams. This year our speakers gained recognition when a plaque was given to the school by the national office naming the group "Outstanding Chapter in Ohio for 1954-1955." The speech team, specializing in debate, original oratory, humorous, dramatic, oratorical declamation, and extemporaneous speaking gathered over ten thousand points at tournaments during the past five years.

The Jane Williams Chapter of the Future Teachers of America is one of the many groups in high schools and colleges all over the country designed to acquaint interested students with the teaching profession. Euclid's F.T.A. held an initiation ceremony at the beginning of the year installing eighty members selected on personality, character, scholarship, and interest in teaching. These members were able to earn pins by tutoring, substituting in the Euclid Schools, and serving on club committees. At the end of the year a traditional spaghetti dinner was held. At this dinner the new officers were announced and pins were received by the students who have earned them.

EUCLIDIAN EDITORIAL STAFF

In May of 1955, a group of Euclid students held the first meeting of the 1956 Euclidian staff. Until summer vacation started, the group met after school to discuss small details that would improve the yearbook. During summer vacation the staff met once a week to plan the dummy book. In August the cover was chosen after a long consideration on design, color, and cover grain. During the school year two days were set aside to take homeroom and activity pictures. This still left many pictures to be taken throughout the year. Script had to be written, pictures identified, pictures cut to size, and division pages and symbols drawn. It was a difficult job, so here's hoping that you really like your book.

EUCLIDIAN BUSINESS STAFF

Obtaining money for the publication of this yearbook was the main function of the Euclidian Business Staff. Through the efforts of the staff of the Business Manager, Advertising Manager, Circulation Manager, their assistants, Sophomore Heads, and Treasurer, the Euclidian subscription drive in early October was successful. The Publications movie, "U.S.S. Titanic" and an after-game dance were also sponsored by the Business Staff as money-making activities for the Euclidian. Advertising was a chief source of income, and the three-month campaign was one of the most successful.

The final job of the staff was to plan and organize for the distribution of the Euclidian.

SURVEY EDITORIAL STAFF

A new format and editorial policy was introduced last year into Euclid High's bi-weekly newspaper, the Survey, when a different system of editors was established and reporters were selected from the journalism classes. Comprised of six editors: the news, feature, sports, front page, and third page editors, and an editor-in-chief, the staff assigned stories and edited copy. By working on the Survey the students learned to collect news material, write columns, and meet deadlines. Girls and boys alike were required to write editorials, take student polls and even cover sports events. The paper promises to become one of the finest in the state and belongs to the National Scholastic Press Association and the International Quill and Scroll Association.

SURVEY BUSINESS STAFF

Every homeroom at Euclid High had a Survey representative. These people collected the subscription money at the beginning of the year and saw to it that every subscriber received a paper every two weeks. Soliciting advertising, sending out bills, selling football and basketball programs, and working on publication movies were all jobs of the Survey business staff. Just as important as the editorial staff of writers, artists, and printers, the business staff had the difficult job of raising money which went on all year. Happy was the staff who left the Survey in the credit column.

EUCUYO STAFF

The Eucuyo, Euclid High's annual literary magazine, provided an opportunity for some of Euclid's creative talent to be exhibited. Poems, essays, and short stories submitted by the student body in an annual contest were voted upon and edited by the Publication Club which met on Wednesdays during the third period. The Eucuyo's cover and story illustrations were drawn by the club members and other student artists. The entire magazine was printed in the Euclid High School print shop. Many of the writings submitted to the contest were sent into national contests where more often than not Euclid emerged with honors.

During the second semester the members participated in the annual Model United Nations Assembly held on the campus of Western Reserve University with the students acting as delegates from foreign nations. In the spring two active Seniors were chosen by the club members, the club sponsor, and the faculty to travel to Washington, D.C. and New York City to visit government agencies and the United Nations.

HI-Y CLUBS

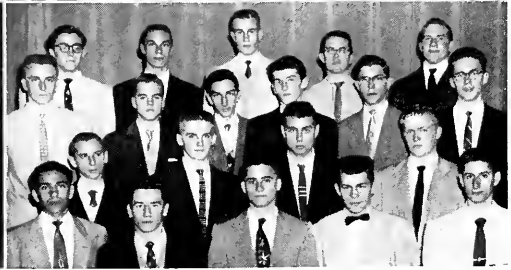

The basic purpose of Euclid's five Hi-Y chapters was to promote high Christian standards in the school, the home, and the community. The meetings were held either at the Y-House or at the home of a member. Because of the large number of boys in Hi-Y it has proven necessary to divide them into chapters. Each chapter was responsible for its own membership and activities. During the year the various chapters sponsored dances, put on assemblies, and worked on civic projects.

All programs were planned by the cabinet members chosen by the club, with the Friendship-Hi-Y Shangri-la Ball as the biggest event of the year.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

P. Nipple, B. Stimpfel, L. Schrock, B. Gechie, S. Mock, L. Lyons

Varsity cheerleaders not only have to learn many cheers, but also acrobatics, arm and leg movements, facial expressions, co-ordination, and poise. These six girls practiced all summer and after school to gain perfection in their cheering. They followed our football team through a losing season and still had the pep and enthusiasm to boost our basketball team on to victory. Originators of Euclid's flash card section, the cheerleaders really gave school spirit a lift with new cheers and pep songs. A vote of thanks went to the cheerleaders, their substitutes, and megaphone club for planning such excellent pep rallies.

Pick up your legs, point your toes, get in step! The members of the majorette club heard these commands every Monday third period, over and over again. The girls and their teachers know that it takes a great deal of practice to become a marching majorette, for the future majorettes of Euclid High need to be the best. It is the dream of every member of the club to one day march out on the football field with the band, to twirl, and cheer the team on, and to march in the numerous holiday parades. The realization of this dream will come to very few of the girls because they know that only twelve of the best will be chosen.

Last fall, Euclid's swim instructors selected a day during which students might try out for Euclid's swim club, Wai Napolo. The candidates were selected for their proficiency in many different aquatic skills. The chosen few were then ready to assume their duties. The girl cadets assisted the swim instructor in teaching the girls' swim classes. Meeting every Wednesday third period, the cadets had an opportunity to perfect their own water skills and prepare for the annual Swim Show held in April. The boys received this same chance on Monday third period, and after school much splashing and yelling was heard as the boys and girls swam together.

Representing Euclid Senior High at school concerts, community functions, and the Lake Erie League Choir Festival, the A Cappella Choir develops in its members an appreciation for and an ability to perform every variety of music, from the sacred or serious works of the well-known composers to the recent popular tunes. This year the choir performed in several assemblies, both at Euclid and the Junior Highs in the city. A Thanksgiving show, the Christmas concert, and the annual Choral Capers presentation gave the choir members a chance to show how constantly they had practiced and how much they enjoyed singing under the baton of Mr. Sam Taylor, the thoroughly well-liked choir director. The Girls' Glee Club, the Boys' Glee Club, and the Sophomore choir trained just as diligently as the choir and added their talents to every musical show.

ALL-SCHOOL PLAY PRODUCTION STAFF

The fall all-school play "Annie Get Your Gun" gave to the audience liltng songs, laughable situations, and heartfelt characterizations of real-to-life people. The actors worked day and night on their given parts to make the play a great success. Besides memorizing speaking roles many of the actors and actresses had to learn to sing, shoot, and speak with a hillbilly drawl. The production staff saw to the props, advertising, and the unique scenery which backed up one of Euclid's best plays, portraying the life story of Ohio's immortal sharpshooter, Annie Oakley.

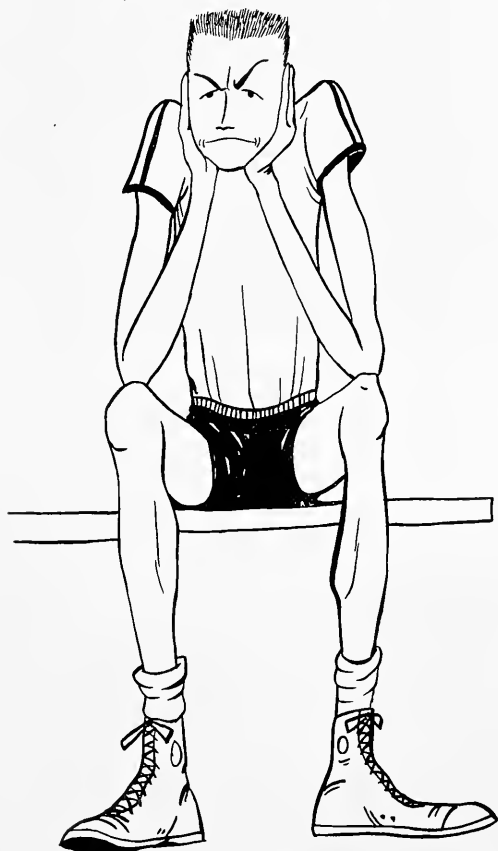

EUCLID CHOIR SHOWS

Euclid's Choir shows, instead of featuring only vocal selections, has begun to blossom out with dramatic pageants, narrated song stories, and colorful costuming and scenery. The band assisted in the singing of "Naughty Marrietta" and individual members of the band in "Gloria In Excelsis Deo" for the Christmas concert. The octet dressed in clothing of the "Gay Twenties" — really put their all into the "Birth of the Blues." Everyone at Euclid awaits with curiosity each of these shows to see what has been added this time. The choir has begun this year the tradition of singing "May The Lord Bless You And Keep You" at the close of every program.

Members of the Girls' Leaders Club are easily distinguished by their white shirts and shorts. They are a group of athletically-inclined girls, who excel in leadership, scholarship, dependability, and sportsmanship.

This year the Leaders have enjoyed many new activities in addition to their regular duties of assisting in the gym classes, refereeing games, and recording points. Junior and sophomore girls wishing to become Leaders, first become Junior Leaders, then attended the Leaders' Clinic, and finally were elected to membership.

SENIOR SWIM CADETS
N. Clark, S. Henn, S. Onderdonk, G. Postnak, A. Neylan, M. Dolan.

This select group of excellent swimmers is chosen by the swimming advisers and the Swim Club. The girls are actually one part of the Swim Club and are rigidly tested in many aquatic skills before becoming eligible for membership.

The Cadets' main duties are those of assisting in the swim classes. They teach girls how to swim and improve their strokes, with high emphasis on promotion of high standards in water safety. Their other responsibilities include participation in the annual swim show and timing events at the swim meets.

Any girl who wishes to participate in intramural sports is eligible to join the Girls' Athletic Association. By earning points in school sports such as basketball, volleyball, hockey, and badminton, and in out-of-school sports, such as bowling and hiking, she can win a letter "E" or a medal. Girls' Athletic Association strives to promote ideas of good sportsmanship.

The G. A. A. advisory board is elected by the entire organization. The board organizes the tournaments, schedules all games, sees that referees are available, and records the points won by each girl.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

The Panther eleven's record was rather disheartening to everyone including Coach Mohr, who is quoted as saying, "I'll never forget this season's record." The squad worked hard during practice, but was shaken up a bit with a slight misunderstanding over training rules. Certainly the experience gained during Coach Mohr's first year at Euclid will help to build next year's team into a powerful squad.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

This year's varsity basketball team only had one returning Letterman, Sherm Lanning. Due to inexperience and a few bad breaks our season wasn't as successful as seasons in the past. Cooperation and the squad's effort to succeed were traits that were very evident in our basketball team. This work has helped to build our team and certainly Coach Calvert along with every student is hoping for a more impressive record.

Social Life

... WHICH HELP US TO BECOME A
SOCIALY WELL-ROUNDED PERSON ..

To the excited sophomores receiving first-day instructions from the Student Council Executive Board September 6, 1955, was a new experience. The girls had spent days planning what to wear and the boys had spent weeks planning an escape from returning to school. To the juniors September 6 meant the beginning of being considered . . . to the Seniors it meant being upperclassmen at last.

With the traditional lighting of the F.T.A. candles, eighty future teachers were installed into the Euclid Chapter, making the current enrollment 105. They will always remember this first step toward a teaching career by the tiny blue and yellow corsages presented to them during the ceremony.

A jitterbug contest, a specialty number by the sophomore chorus line, and music by the Disc-Chords highlighted the first sophomore class get-together. Its success started the sophomores' high school social life off with a bang.

Along with jitterbug contests and the usual slow number for weaker individuals, a Virginia Reel was the highlight of the junior class shindig. There were no decorations due to the fact that the juniors were saving money for their prom.

The "Welcome Seniors" sign showed how diligently the Seniors worked to make their class party a success. There was the usual dancing and eating, but D.J. Joe Finan and ducking for apples were the added features of the evening.

A Euclid High graduate was the moderator for the fourth annual college Clinic held on October 18. The representatives from Case, Kent, Western Reserve, and Baldwin-Wallace were able to give our college-bound students an idea of the opportunities offered at their respective schools through their informal talks.

MAUREEN DOLAN — Homecoming Queen

In spite of rain, snow, and even the heat of September, the Euclid varsity cheerleaders, seen hitting the ground after one of their high leaps, cheered our football team at home and away.

A football dance couldn't be quite the same without a lively bunny-hop. It seems that this dance step is more popular with the girls than the boys. Either the boys are too bashful or they tire easily.

The sale of popcorn by the various organizations around school added to their treasuries and also filled the ever-empty stomachs of Euclid's students. Under the able supervision of Ed Eckert and his bevy of beauties, the popcorn was never burned. "Uncle Neal" you never did pay for that bag!

Euclid High's annual Open House gave the parents an opportunity to form opinions of what their teenagers are being taught as they followed the daily schedule and met the teachers. Coach Mohr, are you explaining gym class routine or talking about your favorite subject, the football team?

"What school do you go to?" For the correct answer to this and many other questions, Senior Polly Toll was awarded thirty-two popular records by D. J. Bill Randle. The stars of the long-awaited assembly were singers Snookie Lonson and Frankie Castro. Polly never did get those records.

Euclid's blue band uniforms were prevalent at the twentieth annual Military Ball held on November 12 in the Heights Social Room. Either the guy or gal had to be a marching band member or a marching majorette in order to attend this grand climax to the marching season.

The traditional Regents' Hi-Y Thanksgiving assembly was as inspiring as ever due to the informal sermons by Rabbi Spitz, Father Lees, and Reverend Poli. Thanksgiving poems were read by several of the boys to begin the program.

"Indian Eck" must have burned his foot in a council fire or maybe he just wanted sympathy. No other high school can boast of a wrestling coach who gets so carried away at a practice that he breaks his own foot.

The school Christmas tree was really a large one this year, and a plea was sent out to the student body to contribute tree ornaments to fill up those empty spaces. Beverly O'Hare must have paid Mr. Pillot to get into so many pictures.

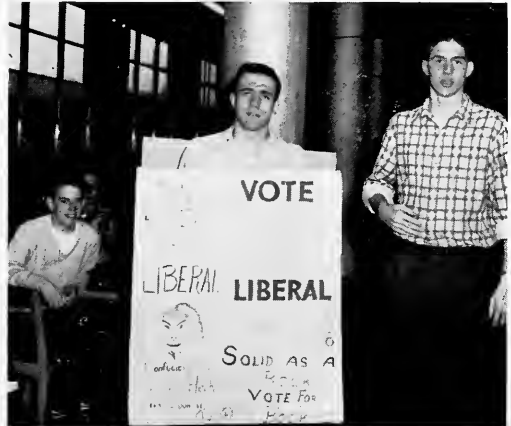

The traditional candlelight procession opened the choir's annual Christmas concert which consisted of familiar carols and modern holiday songs. A new feature this year was the presentation of the pageant "Why the Chimes Rang" and the musical narration of "The Song of Christmas."

Prospective voters in national elections were eager to vote for their fellow students running for office in Euclid's "Student Government for a Day."

John Bomback certainly didn't look happy toting that sandwich board around the cafeteria, but it must have helped because he was elected to the position of first-ward councilman in the student-run city government.

There were surprised exclamations and a few happy tears as the name of each new member of National Honor Society was called. The soft organ music in the background, the presentation of excellent speeches, and each individual pinning helped make the installation as impressive as always.

In order to give the parents a better idea of the extra-curricular activities offered at Euclid, student speakers were invited to a P.T.A. meeting to describe service clubs, social clubs, and school publications. Let's hope the audience was more wide-awake than the speakers.

The annual band assembly provided musical selections to satisfy every student and teacher in the audience regardless of their interest in the finer things of life. No one could help but enjoy Wally Marshall's frantic drumming.

This year a flash-card section was organized to promote school spirit at the basketball games, but by the time the photographer had his camera focused the cards were down. Maybe next year?

To everyone at Euclid who never heard the truth about Miss Mienzen's purple and yellow black-eye here's the story. It seems she went to the movies and became sa hysterical over a Pete Smith short she banged her face on the chair in front of her. What a sense of humor?

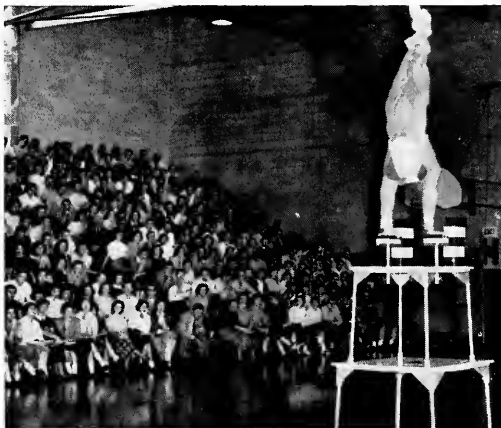

Although school was adjourned at noon due to snow and freezing winds many EHS students never made it home. Many of them got lost and ended up downtown shopping.

The dances after the basketball games were attended by the students who wanted to celebrate Euclid's victory, start off another week-end with a bang, or witness a spectacular jitterbug contest.

The price of the twenty minute noon movie went up to three cents this year but the students felt it was worth it to see the African Queen complete with leeches, Sabrina, and Stalag 17 among other enjoyable films.

To every student and teacher who thought Pat Patterson was going to demonstrate head bouncing instead of "hand balancing" in the one-man circus assembly, you were not alone.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

First Row: J. Gilmore, Secretary; B. Berrier, President
Second Row: K. Lauter, Vice President; S. Lanning, Treasurer

The class of 1956 started at the beginning of the school year to run their affairs in a businesslike manner. Complete frankness and careful thought were used to decide who would occupy the important class offices. The officers received wholehearted support from the Senior Cabinet in planning and carrying out the Senior activities. The class of "56" will remember the Senior party with Joe Finan, the cider barrel and apple ducking; all the hubbub about the all-night prom; the day the Seniors ran the Euclid government; the fun they had planning and attending the Banquet and Prom; the Senior assembly; the practices for graduation; and finally the long-awaited Commencement. The class of "56" will be remembered for being the only class in Euclid High history to have all the boys present on the same day (Tuesday, November 22, 1955), for initiating honor study halls, for their class gift, for being the first Euclid Senior High class to have Commencement away from school, and for being the first class to win the competitive assembly in the sophomore year.

We hope the class of "56" will return often. They will always be an important part of our school's history.

REITA WILLIAMS
Faculty Panther-of-the-Year

Every school needs a feeling of school spirit, and Euclid High is no exception. Roaring cheers at football games, largest turnouts for school plays, and united interest in all school activities needs the support of every student and teacher of E.H.S. The School Spirit Club with eye-catching posters, P.A. announcements, and a flash-card section at basketball games created that long awaited bond between all of the students of Euclid High.

The School Spirit Club members wished to remain anonymous giving well-deserved recognition to students who contribute greatly to various phases of school life. Each week after the assembly the Panther of the Week was announced and given a certificate of merit. These Panthers of the Week starred in plays, worked on worthwhile campaigns, planned social activities, and took an active part in athletics.

FRIENDSHIP FORMAL

CAREER

Each March Euclid High gives its students an opportunity to develop their interests in future life-time occupations. Speakers from nearly every field of endeavor: floristry, engineering, agriculture, and nursing, to name a few; give speeches, demonstrations, and pass out literature to help today's students make up their minds about tomorrow's jobs.

WEEK

What! Swimming, Badminton, and medicine ball in February? Anything was possible at the All School Party when E.H.S. was open in the evening for all types of recreation. Dancing in the cafeteria, checkers in the halls, television in the choral room, and movies in the auditorium were among the activities enjoyed by students and teachers alike.

Representative of the spring banquet season at E.H.S. were the Mother-Daughter and International Quill and Scroll banquets. Besides plenty of good food these dinners featured style shows, skits, speeches, and the giving of awards. The F.T.A. spaghetti dinner, the G.L.C. "Chuck Wagon Spread" and the Honor Society picnic were welcome changes from the more formal round of banquets.

SWIM SHOW

Practice for the annual Wai Napolo water show began at 7:30 in the morning before school and lasted until 11:30 after school. These grueling hours lasted for weeks until the big night came at last. Time well spent considering the high caliber of the show. The swim club members took the audience on an interplanetary trip all in one evening on the Wai Napolo rocket ship. On each planet individual or group swimming routines with gorgeous costumes, colored lights, and unearthly music acquainted the earth people with life on that planet. Big-eared dogs on Pluto, female warriors on Mercury, and the lovely goddess of the Sun were just three of the many wonders to be seen.

PLAY PRODUCTION STAFF

"Time Out For Ginger" was a heartwarming story of a very common ailment known to the young teen-age girls. Males can seem very much inferior while acting very much superior. Ginger's decision to show up the boys by playing football on their level caused her parents much anxiety, her two sisters mental anguish, and the football players much embarrassment. All in all there was enough laughter, tears, and common sense throughout the play to last for quite a while. Each one of the main characters fitted into their roles as naturally as breathing.

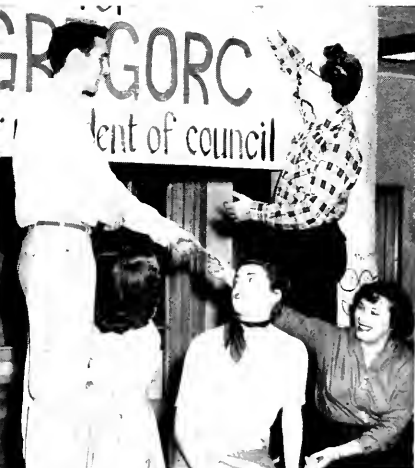

From the first sight of Clifford DeOwens in beret, dark glasses, and high boots until the end of the presentation of faculty awards to various students, the faculty assembly was one of the most hilarious shows ever seen in the E.H.S. auditorium.

The teachers "let down their hair" and "really lived it up" with clever costuming, snappy dialogue, novel acts, and believe it or not plenty of talent. They sang, they danced, they shot water pistols into the audience, and when all this was over there was more clowning around which was appreciated by the students. Here's hoping that the faculty assembly will be a custom from now on.

As one year's group of Seniors nears graduation day their successors begin making plans for their own Senior year. Another yearbook is planned, new hopefuls try out for the majorette line-up, and officers are elected to lead the clubs of E.H.S. through another year. Just representative of this restless forward movement is the spring Student Council campaign complete with posters, speeches, and assemblies to elect the new officers and the choosing of the next year's cheerleaders from the J.V. cheerleaders.

Southern Belles in their formals and Southern Gentlemen in their dress suits danced from eight to twelve on the evening of May 5 at the annual Junior Prom which is looked forward to every year as a dress rehearsal of the Senior Prom.

The Juniors danced in the formal garden of "A Southern Plantation" to music played by Harry Hershey's band and relaxed at pool-side tables overhung with imported Spanish moss. Punch and cookies were served on the porch before everyone left for various nightspots.

Euclid High always had its share of pretty female students, but with teachers looking like these it's a wonder the boys graduated at all. Here six members of the faculty lead the cheers at one of the "Fat Panthers" basketball games where the faculty men played in the game, took tickets, and sold refreshments.

A cast of 250 students, lavish costumes, and imported Spanish moss helped to make the Big Show, "Old New Orleans", a big hit with E.H.S. students, parents, and other Euclidites. Senior Otto Pirchner presented, for the last time, one of his novel "spectaculars" staged and designed by him.

One of the last duties the Seniors had to perform before graduating was the cleaning out of lockers. Text books were the first to go, junk such as papers and old lunches next, and the large boxes containing caps and gowns last.

SENIOR

The theme "A Southern Plantation" was used not only for the Junior Prom, but for the first '56' Senior assembly. The Seniors really put on a worthwhile show combining comedy, music, and talent. Just a few of the acts were "Paddelin' Madeleine Home", "Chair Gang" sung by a group of newly discovered Senior crooners, and "Can't Help Loving That Man" sung by a slightly overweight Patty Gibbons.

The second Senior Assembly of the year was put on as the last school activity before graduation. For a show that should have left some wonderful memories in the minds of the graduates and underclassmen it was a big disappointment. With all the things to do before graduation day there was not enough time to plan and rehearse a show to compare with the first Senior assembly.

ASSEMBLY

SENIOR

The Lake Shore Country Club was the scene of the Senior Banquet held one rainy evening in May. An excellent meal was followed by a humorous talk on the names in the Senior class by Mr. Owens. The class poem was read and the list of '56' firsts was given after which everyone danced in the Club ballroom until it was time to go on to open houses and then home to bed in time to go to school the next morning. Hear some didn't make it home at all!

BANQUET

SENIOR PROM

Excitement over the approaching Senior Prom began when the subject of an All-Night Prom was discussed in the senior hamerrooms and in the Senior Cabinet. As soon as the affair was planned with the support of the Euclid business clubs, bids went on sale and the fun began. Waiting in front of the counselor's office to buy bids and stuffed panther favors the boys began to wonder if it was worth it. The girls' weekly trips downtown to buy dresses left them tired but elated. Finally the "Lovliest Night of the Year" arrived on May 19. Though the Prom, which was held at the Tapco Ballroom didn't start until 9:00, the boys started picking up their dates about 7:00. The reason was that loads of parties were being given all over Euclid. As soon as the girls got their corsages, collected enough junk to last them through the night, and let every neighbor on their street see them it was time to start.

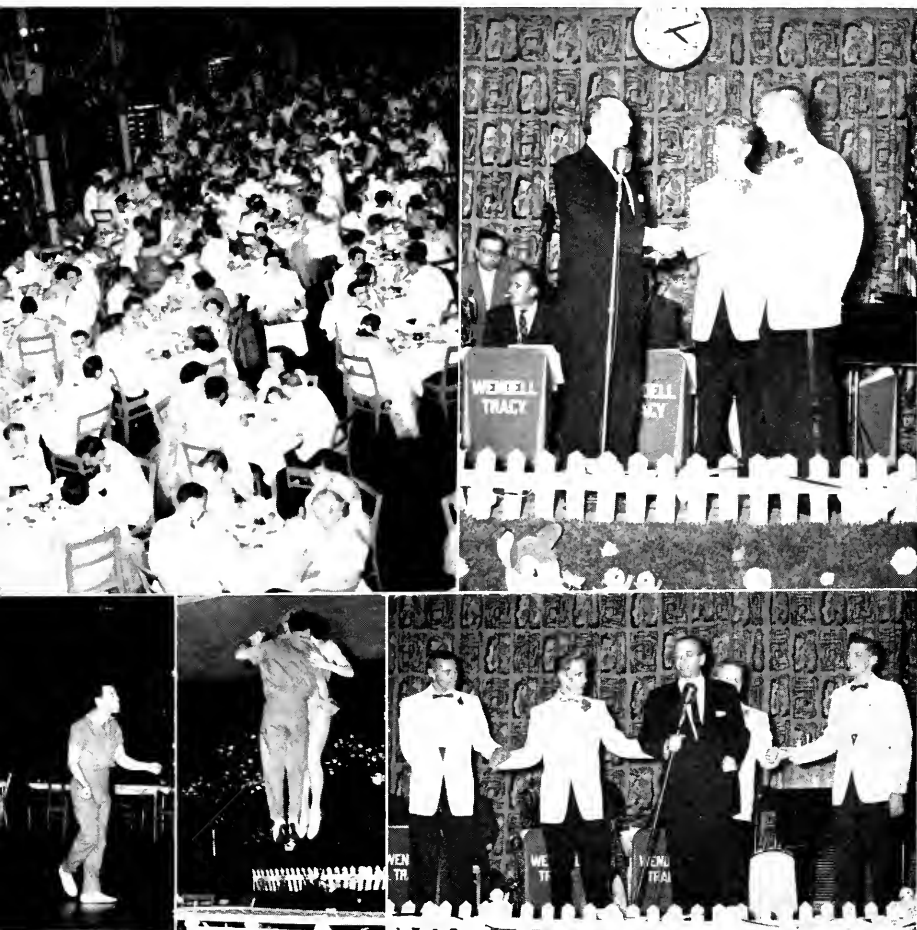

Arriving at the Prom fashionably late the couples were soon dancing to the music of Billy Lang's orchestra, enjoying punch and cookies at floor side tables, and getting their pictures taken by Raimor Studios. Live trees, flowers grass, and bridges over tiny wading pools transformed the ballroom into a lovely surprise.

At 1:00 the dance itself ended and a police escort guided the caravan of cars to City Hall where movies of the Prom were shown and a key to the City was given to the Senior Class by Mayor Sims. Then back to the Tapco ballroom for more dancing, eating, and entertainment.

At the after-Prom party the guests had their choice of a chicken or steak dinner. With the meal came professional entertainment from Greater Cleveland's night spots. A pickpocket, a trampoline trio, and a vocalist filled the bill very well. Music for dancing was furnished by Wendell Tracy's band.

About 5:30, another motorcade led to the Euclid Park Clubhouse where the few remaining people waited for the truck with the rolls and coffee which was late in arriving. A few of the harder people went down to look at the lake but the rest tried to keep awake with group singing which didn't go over very big.

At 7:00, some of the cars in the caravan went to the EHS auditorium for a community church service led by Reverend Austin Coe. Needless to say that by this time very few people were awake. After church, home to change clothes, then on to the picnic at Wyoga Lake and a day of swimming, eating, and trying to keep awake. A few of the real slop-happy couples even tried to go to the drive-in movies that night. Monday morning the Senior class attended classes en masse as usual, but not willingly. "The Lovliest Night of the Year" will not be forgotten for many a year.

Euclid Senior High's eleventh commencement program was held at the Music Hall of the Cleveland Public Auditorium on Tuesday, June fifth, 1956. This was the first time the Euclid's Seniors did not graduate in the school auditorium or in the football stadium.

The featured speaker was Dr. Allan F. Griffin, Professor of Education at Ohio State University, with "The Shape of the Next Twenty Years" addressed to the graduates.

The valedictory music by Marilyn Wendell and the salutatory by Judy Blackburn was followed by the certification of the class and the presentation of the diplomas by Mrs. Grace Watkins, Vice-President of the Euclid Board of Education.

With the playing of the recessional by the E.H.S. band 436 graduates filed up the aisles wearing for the last time the blue gowns and gold tassels of their Alma Mater.

The '56' graduating class first marched to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" on Sunday, June 3, when Baccalaureate Services were held in the Euclid High auditorium.

After the invocation and scripture reading by Reverend Kenneth Poly of the Master's Church, the Baccalaureate address, "Feet of Clay" was given by Reverend Frank Hutchings of the Church of the Epiphany.

The Senior Chorus was heard for the last time as it sang "The Halls of Ivy" and the choral response to the benediction.

For the Seniors Baccalaureate Day was the first time to wear their graduation gowns and the beginning of the parties and open houses which come before and after graduation night.

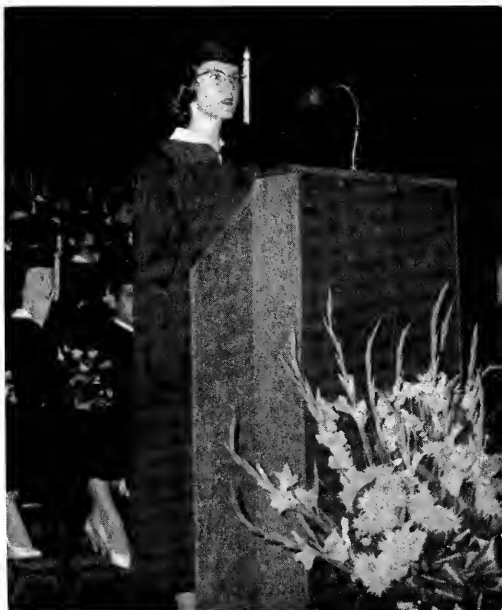

Marilyn Wendell, valedictorian of the 1956 graduating class, played "Rhapsodie Hongroise" by Franz Liszt as her musical valedictory.

Marilyn's ninety-five plus average in her high school studies was not hampered by her interest in extra-curricular activities. She was a member of National Honor Society, National Forensic League, Thespians, and Future Teachers of America. Being treasurer of International Quill and Scroll, an editorial board member of the Publications Club, a band librarian and playing solo clarinet in the band and violin in the orchestra kept "Wendy" quite busy.

After attending Radcliffe College on a full tuition scholarship, Marilyn plans to be an English teacher. When asked how it felt to be first in a class of 436, Marilyn said, "I have never sacrificed activities or recreation for studying—just sleep."

Judy Blackburn's scholastic average of 94.4 and her leadership in many activities made her eligible to be the salutatorian of the class of 1956. Being on the Distinguished Honor Roll every six weeks during her three years at EHS, vice president of Future Teachers of America, and a member of the Euclidian editorial staff did not hamper her from being in many other clubs around school. Among many of her other activities are Girls' Leaders Club, National Honor Society, Girls' Athletic Association, and Quill and Scroll. She played bassoon in the concert band and marching band.

Judy will be a camp counselor at Camp Julia Crowell this summer before she leaves for Ohio Wesleyan in the fall to major in elementary education.

Listen my children, and learn the tricks
Of the wonderful class of fifty-six.
On the ninth of September in fifty-three
Euclid's doors opened for you and me.
Our first Homecoming was a game against Heights.
We lost that as well as other grid fights.
But the track team did well, and Wiley's a wreck,
Because of an unknown soph'more named Heck.
The baseball team were LEL chomps.
They made their opponents look like tromps.
Rosie, Maureen, Hons, Dave, and Jim Rauer
Were great soph'more octors in Playnite's first hour.
Our first all-school formal was the Sweetheart ball.
We danced in the cafeteria, not some fancy hall.
Morning announcements featured a quiz master.
Mr. Owens checked up to see who replied faster
To: "How many feet is the swimming pool deep?"
"How many students in class fall asleep?"
In contest assemblies, we won the last cup.
Seniors were mortified. We lived it up.
As soph'mores we proved that we were the best
By conquering obstacles, meeting the test.

PART II

As juniors we started to run the school.
We had lots of fun, and observed every rule?
"You Can't Take It With You" created a fuss.
Well, why not? The cost featured seven of us.
The government classes started some fun.
The students we chose had the city to run.
In football we didn't win any game
But champion hoopsters brought EHS fame.
The wrestlers took the GCL crown
But didn't do well in Columbus town.
The band, however, brought home a first.
That made us so happy we thought that we'd burst.
At our Junior Prom we had quite a throng.
"This Is Heaven" was the formal's theme song.
Our newly checked boiler exploded in Moy.
That incident gave us a free day to play.
The yearbook presented the first supplement.
It showed NHS and our Prom's merriment.
We said farewell to the grads of fifty-five.
At last, we were Seniors. It was great to be alive.

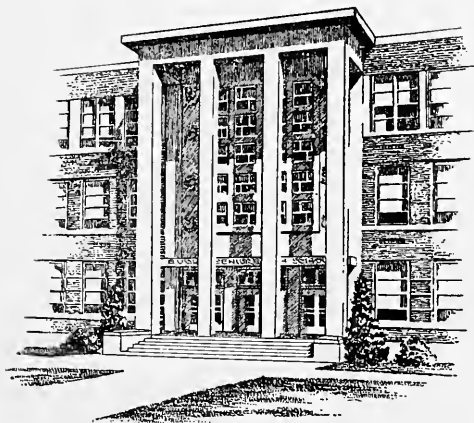

PART III

During the summer, to Roimor's we'd trot.
They made us look pretty if we had it or not.
Mr. Rojeck came with school spirit.
If there is a game, we should all go and cheerit.
When we played EasTech spirit reached its peak.
That was during tournament week.
Mr. Blackburn reads Atlantic.
It drives his English students frontic.
Through Mr. Pringle we discovered Grendel.
The SURVEY said that Marilyn Wendell
Would be our valedictorion.
Judy Blackburn's behind her by one.
The Senior Prom was really a dream.
"The Loveliest Night of the Year" was our theme.
Every Senior who was a smarty
Followed the Prom with the All Night Party.
Commencement is Tuesday, the fifth of June.
If 'twas in our stadium we'd want a full moon.
But since it won't be there any more
We don't care if it'll snow or pour.
As one walks through old Euclid's halls
He sees around him the crocks in the walls.
That shows our Alma Mater has a heart.
Couse our class is leaving, she's falling apart.
